

Engineers Get Ready To Open Flood Levee

Will Relieve Pressure On Mississippi

By The Associated Press
The Army Wednesday rolled in the heavy equipment it may use to smash a safety-valve levee to relieve pressure along vital areas of the swollen Mississippi river.

New rains and rising rivers upstream heightened the chance that engineers may have to flood 200 square miles of fertile southeastern Missouri farmland—an act that might wreck hundreds of land owners financially.

Already 8,000 residents of the Birds Point-New Madrid floodway have fled from their homes with furniture and all other possessions they could haul away. Some lashed their homes to their foundations with ropes.

4,000 Sticking It Out
The remaining 4,000 residents of the floodway are sticking it out—until or unless the army issues an evacuation order.

The Mississippi and Ohio rivers—two of the major danger spots in the Midwest flood picture—were rising at crucial points.

Hundreds more persons were evacuated and two men perished in southern Illinois floodwaters, but there was a bright spot in the picture.

That was at Vincennes, Ind., where the swirling Wabash river dropped more than half a foot following breaks in the levee on the other side of the river Tuesday. The fall then continued rapidly.

"The level definitely will not go up to 29 feet," said Paul Miller, chief weatherman in Indianapolis.

A crest of 29.2 feet has been feared by Friday—0.2 foot over the top of Vincennes flood wall.

Predicts Drop
Miller predicted the drop would continue at Vincennes—the water was within five inches of the top of the flood wall—and that a secondary crest of 26.5 to 27 feet would be reached Friday.

The optimistic prediction came after a second call for volunteers to bolster the flood wall. Gov. Henry P. Schricker also ordered a national guard unit at Jasper, Ind., to go to Vincennes to aid other guardsmen, soldiers and civilians there.

Winter's storms that lashed California for two weeks with rain or snow brought floods to the northern coastal counties of that state. The Smith river, near the Oregon line, rose swiftly. The El, rising a foot an hour, was expected to spill over its banks. The Mattole, already out of its banks, threatened to isolate the town of Petrolia. The community of Orick in northwestern Humboldt county was flooded by five feet of water.

Meanwhile the coldest weather of the season gripped some Canadian border states. Williston, N. D., had 47 below zero; Pembina, N. D., -41; Bismark, N. D., -44 and International Falls, Minn., -38.

Cold air overspread most of the Midwest, extending from western Ohio to northern Texas. Temperatures skidded as much as 60 to 65 degrees below Tuesday's readings in Kansas and Oklahoma.

1 Of Most Wanted Men In U.S. Taken By FBI In Florida

Miami, Fla., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Harry Fleischer, member of the notorious Purple gang, was arrested by FBI agents as he sunned himself at Pompano beach today.

Crawford Carson, agent in charge of the FBI here, said the 46-year-old fugitive from Michigan, whom he described as "one of the most dangerous and badly wanted criminals in the United States," was accompanied by a woman whom he identified as Bernice Jackson of Detroit.

Fleischer was arrested on federal charges of having unlawfully fled from the state of Michigan to avoid confinement on a state robbery charge.

The arrest was made by four agents who found the fugitive sprawling in the sand in a bathing suit.

Carson said Fleischer and the Detroit woman had been living together in a tourist cottage at Pompano Beach, about 40 miles north of here since Jan. 12. They had registered as Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Goldwyn, of Toledo, Ohio, he said.

The FBI chief said both had been brought to Miami and will be held in federal custody by the U. S. marshal to await removal to Michigan to face state charges.

Carson said the FBI had been searching for Fleischer since Nov. 1, 1948.

Nationals Claim Destruction Of Hainan Invasion Fleet

Taipei, Formosa, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The Chinese nationalist air force and navy have wrecked a Red junk fleet, making invasion of Hainan "impossible," the commander of the South China island asserted today.

Gen. Hsueh Yuch, in a report to the government of Formosa, declared the two services had sunk more than 2,000 invasion craft.

The craft, mostly junks, were massed around Luichow peninsula opposite Hainan. They have been subjected to weeks of aerial pounding. Occasionally, the navy has jumped in with torpedoes along Luichow's coast.

"The nationalists in Hong Kong reported Jan. 7 the air force had turned back an invasion fleet of 1,000 junks, sinking half of them."

The aerial onslaught against mainland targets continued. The air force announced fighter planes had attacked Shanghai for the second straight day. Nanking also was raided. Canton was hit Tuesday.

The air force claimed the Lungchow air port of Shanghai was damaged, and a plane on the field wrecked. A train between Shanghai and Nanking was shot up.

Top Polish Delegate To U. N. Quits Post

Lake Success, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Poland's ranking delegate at the United Nations has resigned his diplomatic post here, cut all official ties with the Russian-dominated homeland, and asked asylum for his wife and himself in the United States.

The delegate is Dr. Aleksander Rudzinski, 49, who has been legal counselor of the Polish delegation and the top Pole here in the absence of the chief delegate, Juliusz Katz-Suchy.

The break became known today in a letter Rudzinski sent to Secretary of State Dean Acheson. The primary cause was reported to be Rudzinski's unwilling walk with the Russians out of U. N. commission Monday.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Jakob A. Malik walked out of the Security Council last week because the council would not oust the nationalist China delegation. Soviet bloc delegates walked out of three committees Monday for the same reason and today delegates from the Soviet Union, Poland, Czechoslovakia and White Russia left the U. N. Economic and Employment Commission when it refused to oust the nationalist China delegation.

Rudzinski was reported in seclusion, but a source familiar with his views said he has been thinking of a break since the Russians began putting more pressure on Poland after the Stalin-Tito split in 1948.

Instructions for Rudzinski to walk out of the special U. N. committee on stateless persons, reported to have come from Warsaw, reached him Monday morning about two hours before the committee met. He was said to have made up his mind then he would quit. After the walk he went to his home, wrote three letters and became a stateless person covered by the U. N. committee he just left.

He wrote Acheson that "freedom has disappeared" in Poland as a result of Russian actions.

Another letter was to the Polish delegation, saying he resigned his post as legal counselor and as vice consul and chief of the legal department of the Polish consulate-general in New York.

The third letter was to Trygve Lie, U. N. secretary-general. This announced his action and enclosed a copy of the letter to Acheson.

To Keep Illinois Waterway Open During The Winter

Chicago, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Army engineers and the coast guard said today they plan to keep the Illinois waterway open to navigation throughout the winter.

However, no shipping will be able to move through the Lockport lock for six weeks. The lock has been closed for extensive underwater repairs to the gates, sills and valves.

Lt. Col. J. P. Campbell, Chicago district engineer in charge of maintaining and operating the waterway, said army engineers will keep the locks free of ice. The coast guard has agreed to put ice breaking equipment in the river.

The Corps of Engineers also is maintaining five short wave radio stations to make daily reports on water temperatures and icing conditions and to aid navigators. These stations are at the La Grange lock below Beardstown, the Peoria government boatyard, the Joliet moorings and at the locks at Starved Rock and Marseilles.

The engineers said there usually is no ice problem in the sanitary district channel above Lockport.

Senate Questions Legality Of Ouster Of Adm. Denfeld

Washington, Jan. 18.—(AP)—The legality of President Truman's ouster of Admiral Louis E. Denfeld as the navy's top officer was thrown into question in the Senate today.

Denfeld was ousted last October after a heated dispute in which he and navy officers complained that unification of the armed forces was being administered in such a way as to hamper national defense.

Immediately after McCarthy had produced his document on the Senate floor, Chairman Tydings (D-Md.) of the Senate armed service committee asked the Senate hold up action on confirmation of Admiral Forrest P. Sherman as Denfeld's successor.

He said he wanted to check the law and precedents to see if a president could remove a high officer after commissioning him for a new term. He said he was "inclined to believe" the president might assume that had such power as commander-in-chief.

The document, which McCarthy said was a photographic copy of the commission, was in flat contradiction of Secretary of the Navy Matthews, who had said the commission never was issued. McCarthy said he got the copy indirectly from Denfeld.

Senate Passes Oleo Tax Repeal Without Any Riders

Washington, Jan. 18.—(AP)—A bill to wipe out the federal taxes on oleomargarine was passed by the Senate tonight by the lopsided margin of 56 to 16.

The measure, bitterly fought by some members from big butter-producing states, now is expected to go to a Senate-House conference to iron out differences between it and a measure passed last year by the House.

Abolished under the measure would be the federal levies of 10 cents a pound on colored margarine, and one quarter cent on uncolored.

Restaurants serving oleomargarine would have to label it as such or serve it in triangular form, to prevent its being confused with butter. Oleo sold at retail would have to be in triangular packages.

Before the final vote, the senators rejected an effort to turn the margarine bill into a billion-dollar general excise tax cut.

The excise tax amendment, sponsored by Senator Butler (R-Nebr.), was rejected 43 to 32.

Earlier, two attempts by Senator Langer (R-ND) to attach "civil rights" riders to the measure were killed by motions to table. The vote against Langer's anti-lynching amendment was 60 to 20, and against an anti-tax poll proposal 59 to 17.

Langer also made an unsuccessful move to displace the margarine bill with a third civil rights measure—a proposal to establish a federal fair employment practices committee (FEPC). The Senate tabled that motion 59 to 17.

Butler's excise tax proposal called for going back to the lower 1942 tax rates on such things as jewelry, furs, cosmetics, telephone bills and transportation tickets. It also would have wiped out the 3 per cent tax on freight transportation.

Yesterday the Senate rejected both proposals, but then they were offered separately. The previous excise cut amendment was tied, though, to a dairy state substitute for the House-passed oleo repealer.

That substitute, which would have banned the interstate shipment of colored oleo, was rejected 48 to 37. The proposal to remove the three per cent freight levy was defeated yesterday by a 56 to 33 vote.

Taylor Resigns As U.S. Ambassador To Vatican City

Washington, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Myron Taylor resigned today as President Truman's special ambassador to the Vatican.

Taylor is returning to private life. He is a former chairman of the board of the U. S. Steel Corp.

In accepting the resignation with "deep regret," Mr. Truman noted in a letter that this is Taylor's 76th birthday.

Taylor has served as personal envoy to the Pope for 10 years. He was first named to the post by the late President Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Rumors that he was resigning have circulated here and abroad for several weeks, but Taylor denied them as late as a week ago.

On his arrival here from Rome Jan. 10, he said he expected to return after a short stay. He conferred with President Truman on Monday.

Several Protestant organizations have repeatedly called on the President to abolish the special post-Taylor held. These demands were renewed again when reports spread that Taylor was quitting.

The White House made public Taylor's letter of resignation and Mr. Truman's acceptance but gave no immediate indication whether the President will name a new envoy.

8,000 Employees Of Whiting Refinery Given Wage Boost

Whiting, Ind., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Some 8,000 employees of the Whiting Refinery of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) will receive a two cents hourly wage hike retroactive to July 1 under an agreement announced today.

Blake C. Smith of the U. S. Mediation and conciliation service said agreement on a contract running to March 1, 1952, was reached after negotiations extending over several weeks.

J. C. Ducommun, refinery manager, said that with the new boost refinery employees have received general increases totaling five cents an hour in the last year.

Under the new contract the company's vacation plan is liberalized to give workers two weeks vacation after one year of service. Formerly such workers got only one week.

They still will get three weeks vacation after 15 years with the company and four weeks after 25 years.

The workers are represented by Local 100 of the Independent Central States Petroleum Union.

Says Law Banning Carrying Hidden Weapons Mockery

Chicago, Jan. 18.—(AP)—A Circuit Judge today termed Illinois' law banning the carrying of concealed weapons "a legal mockery."

Judge Julius H. Miner made the remark in sentencing Kenneth Beason, 29, a Negro, to jail for one year on a concealed weapons charge.

Beason's attorney had moved for acquittal on the ground that although a policeman had testified he had seen the defendant standing over the body of a slain man with a gun in his hand, no witness had testified that they saw Beason with a weapon concealed on his person.

Beason was acquitted last March by a Criminal Court jury of murdering Robert Modest, 24, at a roadside in suburban Summit.

"Possession of the gun should be the gist of the offense, and not its concealment," Judge Miner said.

"To reduce robberies and murders, the law should be corrected, prohibiting the carrying or possession of firearms by anyone, without an official permit, except in a home or place of business, or unless engaged in the discharge of official duties."

40 ILLINOIS COAL MINES SIGN NEW CONTRACTS WITH UMW

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18.—(AP)—Forty Illinois mines employing 3,500 men and producing 2,100,000 tons of coal a year have signed new contracts with the United Mine Workers union, state President Hugh White said today.

Most of the mines are small. Their combined production accounts for about three or four per cent of the state's annual output.

U. S. Moves To Force Miners Back To Work

$150,000 Offered For Brink's Robbers

Boston, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Police received a report tonight that five peajackets—the type of garb worn by gunmen who looted Brink's armored car service of a million dollars—were found on a wharf in Dorchester.

The seven gunmen wore plastic rubber full-face Halloween masks—which are pulled over the head—in the holdup at the money transportation firm's offices near the waterfront at 7:10 p.m. last night.

Rewards which could total $150,000 were posted.

The company offered a $100,000 reward for the bandits "dead or imprisoned."

The other possible $50,000 was offered by the National Surety Corporation, with whom Brink's was insured. The corporation announced it would pay five per cent of all cash recovered.

Some half-million dollars in checks also were grabbed by the gunmen, but a Surety company spokesman said the reward offer is limited to cash recovered.

Although federal, state and local agencies pressed the manhunt, Boston police superintendent Edward W. Fallon admitted "there's little or nothing to work on."

Teleprinters clicked with leads in New York City and New England but none of them led anywhere.

They got away with all they could carry—a million dollars in cash and a half a million in checks. They left behind a million dollars. Why?

Either they couldn't carry it in their already overstuffed laundry bags, or they were scared by the door-buzzing of a guard reporting for work.

The robbers worked silently with only low-voiced mutterings. The whole thing took 20 minutes. Then, fast and sure-moving as commandos after a strike, they vanished.

Through the six doors which police believe they unlocked with a master key to get in.

Late today Brink's, which offered a $100,000 reward, announced they were changing their locks.

The Jesse James daring of the bandit gang impressed one of the men who stood helplessly near a rack of shotguns as the robbery was in progress. Charles Grell, 44, a Brink's messenger, said that to reach for a gun would have been "sure death."

The B. F. Goodrich Company of Akron, Ohio fired telegrams to the President and congressmen saying the rubber industry also is threatened by the spreading shortages which already have forced curtailment of some railroad operations.

Lewis meanwhile maintained silence on Denham's action. But out in the field his lieutenants were seeking to induce some 90,000 striking miners to return to work next Monday as Lewis previously had "suggested."

Rescuers Remove Body Of Trapped Miner From Pit

Mahanoy City, Pa., Jan. 18.—(AP)—The grim, dangerous five-day hunt for Edward Burd, trapped in an anthracite mine cave-in, ended today with the removal of his body from the pit on Broad mountain.

Doctors said the 26-year-old Burd apparently was suffocated a short time after the cave-in Friday afternoon. He was trapped 10 feet underground. His body was found in a heap of coal and rock that was crushed to fine bits by the weight of debris above.

Two of his brothers working with him when the accident occurred, escaped alive.

Casmir, 32, was pinned in the falling debris but wriggled out of his boots and ran to the surface to give the alarm.

Joseph, 30, was caught far underground. He heard the rumble of a first, minor fall and ran to the aid of Edward. Minutes later he was entombed 55 feet below the surface by a second, and much larger fall.

Rescue workers reached him, alive and well, early Sunday.

Senate 5% Probers Rebuke Vaughan, Scold Maragon

Washington, Jan. 18.—(AP)—Democrats and Republicans on a Senate investigating committee joined today in rebuking Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, President Truman's military aide, for accepting seven home freezers as gifts for himself and high-ranking friends.

The committee said that, except for the President and his family, any public official who gets something for nothing from persons doing business with the government does so because those making the gift hope he will reciprocate in some way.

"If he stops and thinks for a moment," said the group's unanimous report on its inquiry last year, "he will realize that probably he is not getting the gift because the donor likes the color of his eyes or is genuinely concerned with his household needs."

Vaughan told the committee last fall that there was nothing improper about his accepting the freezers as gifts from the head of the Albert Verley company, a Chicago perfume concern.

The committee received testimony that the gifts were made to the President's aide about the time the State department clearance to send some of its officials to Europe. This was soon after the war, when passports were hard to get.

Testimony showed also that Vaughan testified that whatever he did was part of his job and in the interest of expediting things. And he said the gift of freezers was simply a "courtesy to me."

The report approved by four Democrats and three Republicans said it is all right for the President and his family to accept gifts "as a token of their esteem and a mark of respect" for the President's high office. The committee said that nothing in its report is intended to criticize this tradition.

But it reported that John Maragon, for a time an employee of the perfume company whose head gave the freezers to Vaughan, had engaged in "nefarious activities in dealing with government officials."

And it declared there is no doubt that Maragon's friendship with Gen. Vaughan made possible Maragon's activities in his dealings with the federal government.

Denham Of NLRB Goes To Court

Washington, Jan. 18.—(AP)—A government move aimed at forcing John L. Lewis' coal miners back on a full production basis was launched today as reports of fuel and power shortages mounted throughout the country.

The step was taken by Robert N. Denham, general counsel of the National Labor Relations Board, who said Lewis was using an "unfair labor practice" in putting his United Mine Workers on a three-day work week.

Denham sent his aides into federal district court here to ask for an injunction barring Lewis from employing such tactics in his efforts to win a new contract from the mine owners.

Set 26th As Date Of Hearing
Judge Richmond B. Keesh set January 26 as the date for a hearing on Denham's request.

But members of Congress who have been demanding that President Truman himself step into the coal dispute predicted that Denham's procedure would fall short of its mark. Several said the NLRB counsel had overstepped his authority.

Senator Taft (R-Ohio) declared he did not think Congress had intended to give anyone except the President the power to force men to go back to work where they had no contract. He said it might be possible to get a court injunction under the Taft-Hartley Act to require Lewis to bargain in good faith.

"But I can't see that would be an effective means of getting full production of coal," Taft added as he renewed his demand that Mr. Truman invoke the Taft-Hartley Act to force Lewis to abandon his limited production tactics.

There was no word from the White House except to say that the President was being kept informed of the developments. Thus far he has refused to recognize the coal shortage as created a national emergency. Such a proclamation would enable him to go to the courts and seek an 80-day court order barring a coal mine shutdown.

But from Pittsburgh came word that the retail coal merchants' association reported stocks were so low that they will have to be rationed on a priority basis. The United States Steel Corporation also announced plans for further production cutbacks.

The B. F. Goodrich Company of Akron, Ohio fired telegrams to the President and congressmen saying the rubber industry also is threatened by the spreading shortages which already have forced curtailment of some railroad operations.

Lewis meanwhile maintained silence on Denham's action. But out in the field his lieutenants were seeking to induce some 90,000 striking miners to return to work next Monday as Lewis previously had "suggested."

THORPE'S $456,760,000 CLAIM

Jim Thorpe, the great Indian athlete, wants to collect $456,760,000 from the government for his Sac and Fox tribe, which once roamed this area and is now congregated mostly in Oklahoma.

He says the government never paid for 70,000 acres of land purchased from his tribe for use in the famed "land rush," and asks the purchase price plus compound interest. A St. Louis bank, where he says the money was deposited for his tribe, disclaims any knowledge of it.

If Thorpe wants to collect on land his people once owned, he can go further back than that, to another transaction which took place in St. Louis, where some of his tribe's representatives went to obtain the release of a prisoner. They were plied with liquor and "touched the quill" to a document that ceded away their vast lands around here. This property is now worth billions.

Probably Jim wouldn't care to make an issue of the liquor, but he knows that Uncle Sam is handing out billions to people in many lands and he wants to cut his own people in for some of it. Why not? Our country has far greater obligations to the Indians than to some others whom we are aiding.

WALKING WON'T DO IT

Just about a year ago Jacob Malik, the Russian UN representative, was engaged in gentle whisperings with Philip Jessup of the United States over plans to end the Berlin blockade. As the agreement was being worked out, Malik overflowed with charm and good will.

But this is another year. Malik is once more stern of countenance. For charm to the Russians is a device of diplomacy, of political intrigue. You might almost say it's a weapon. To be used, of course, at the strategic moment.

This time Malik has resorted to other tactics to accomplish his country's objectives. He has indulged in what appears to be the favorite form of athletics among Russian leaders: a slow walk, with firm stride, out of some international gathering or other.

Malik's spurt of winter exercise is in protest against the continued presence of the Chinese Nationalist delegate as a member of the UN Security Council.

With Britain and many others now recognizing Communist China, the status of the Nationalist delegate is a real problem. But it won't be solved by virtuoso performances like Malik's.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

School Children
Should Be Checked
For Heart Disease

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

Written for NEA Service

Heart disease is responsible for more deaths in youngsters between 5 and 19 years old than anything else. Also many youngsters afflicted with heart disease grow up and may get into trouble later.

Most heart disease in youth is caused by rheumatic fever. Congenital heart disease, that is, heart disease present at birth, is also serious but far less frequent. However, surgery of the heart has made such great advances that it is now possible to treat some youngsters with inborn heart diseases by this means.

Recent studies have shown that heart disease caused by rheumatic fever is responsible for about half or more of all cases of heart trouble in children. Not only is this true, but about one youngster in 250 is afflicted with rheumatic heart disease.

Discovering Its Presence

Until medical science has discovered the cause of rheumatic fever, or at least some good way of preventing it, the presence as early as possible so that proper treatment can be outlined. Rheumatic fever is not always a dramatic thing and sometimes rheumatic heart disease can arise without any illness which has been recognized by the parents.

It is therefore important for all school children to have an adequate physical examination at least once a year. This can be done well by the school physician because practically every child comes under his observation at regular intervals.

More and more youngsters are having their heart disease discovered early. This makes it possible for the school physician to refer them to their own physicians who can then confirm the diagnosis.

Note: Dr. Jordan is unable to answer individual questions from readers. However, each day he will answer one of the most frequently asked questions in his column.

THE DOCTOR ANSWERS

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

QUESTION: What can be done for a child whose mother had syphilis? Is it certain to lead to insanity? The blood tests are negative.—M. R.

ANSWER: When syphilis is properly treated during pregnancy, the children will not have the disease. If the blood tests on the child are negative, the child almost certainly does not have the disease. Syphilis does not always lead to insanity.

Cash Registers
At H. S. Cafeteria
Robbed Of $16.46

A thief or thieves who exhibited considerable agility robbed the Jacksonville High school cafeteria of $16.46 Tuesday night or early Wednesday morning.

The money was removed from two cash registers, one of which contained $10.93, and the other $5.53.

The thief or thieves may have been hiding in the building when it was locked up at 10 o'clock Tuesday night, as none of the doors or windows had been broken or forced open.

Entrance to the cafeteria was gained through a wooden door located six feet or more above the floor, in the wall of one of the corridors. To get into the cafeteria it was necessary to climb over the top of a large ice box.

School officials discovered the robbery Wednesday morning, after which Patrolmen Woods and Campbell began an investigation.

The Fable Of The
Henpecked Husband

By Hal Boyle

New York—(AP)—Once upon a time there was a henpecked husband. Nothing he could do was right. His earsdrums had callouses from listening to his wife's friendly criticism, and his shins were bruised from being kicked—she was an active woman.

One night after his wife went to bed, the poor man sat in the living room brooding over his lot. Suddenly he heard a tiny cry.

"Help! Help! Save Me!"

He rushed over to a corner and found a thumb-high elf being dragged into a hole by an angry mouse.

Startled, the mouse dropped its prey and fled into the hole.

"Thank you, mortal, for saving me from that rat," said the elf, brushing himself off. "According to custom, I will now grant you any wish you want."

"Oh, you can't do anything for me," said the man, despondently. "I am just a poor, miserable, henpecked husband."

"Well," said the elf, "would it help if I turned your wife into a hen?"

"Could you?" asked the man eagerly.

"I can try," said the elf. Together they crept into the bedroom. The elf waived his little wand madly.

"Razmo, Gazzmo, turn into a hen, lady!" he commanded.

The wife stirred, got up, waddled into the living room, climbed up on the sofa. And she perched there, with her head stuck under her arm, murmuring sleepily: "Cluck-cluck-cluck-cluck."

"Fine job, if I did do it myself," said the elf. "I'll drop back in three nights to see that everything's all right." And he disappeared.

The next morning the wife would not sit on her chair and she wouldn't eat her bacon and eggs that the husband had fixed. She just cluck-cluck-clucked mournfully.

Finally the man got some birdseed and put it on a plate. His wife pecked hungrily at it. But then she would look up at him and say "cluck, cluck" very sadly, and tears would roll down her cheeks.

This went on for three days, and the kind-hearted husband began to feel sorry for her. Then the little

Here Is Another Time The Anti-Trust Lawyers Were Wrong!

Ever since the anti-trust lawyers filed their suit to put A&P out of business, they have been making, in the newspapers and over the radio, various "allegations" about how they think this company does business.

Please remember that "allegations" are charges that have not been proved.

In this case they will be disproved.

There have been times in the past when the anti-trust lawyers made very damaging "allegations" about this company that the courts eventually decided were utterly without foundation.

In our last advertisement we told you about the time the anti-trust lawyers charged that A&P, two other food chains and two labor unions conspired to fix the price of bread in Washington, D. C.

And yet, when this case came to trial, it was revealed that the defendants were actually selling bread cheaper than most other stores in Washington, and that there was absolutely no evidence that they had ever engaged in any such "alleged" conspiracy.

That was the time Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty."

It was the time he said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"If you were to show this record to any experienced trial lawyer in the world, he would tell you that there was not any evidence at all."

"Honestly, I have never in my over forty years' experience seen a case that was as absolutely devoid of evidence as this. That is the honest truth. I have never seen one like it."

But this was not the only time that the anti-trust lawyers made such serious "allegations" against A&P which were false.

Again, and still again, they brought cases against A&P and suffered defeat.

As we have said, we think you are entitled to know about these other cases. And now, we are going to tell you about the second time the anti-trust lawyers were wrong.

The North Carolina Potato Case

In December, 1941, the anti-trust lawyers brought a criminal suit in Wilson, North Carolina.

They charged that A&P's fresh fruit and vegetable buying subsidiary, and other good American citizens, had conspired to fix and depress prices paid farmers for potatoes in North Carolina, Virginia and Maryland.

Can anyone imagine any charge calculated to be more damaging to a retail grocery business that must rely on farmers, day after day, for the food we distribute to our customers?

In this case the anti-trust lawyers gave a story to the newspapers, telling millions of farmers that we were the kind of people who would force their prices down, deprive them of a decent income, and lower their families' living standard.

These charges were false.

They made these charges despite the fact that it has always been A&P's policy to pay our farm suppliers fair market prices for all produce; to aid agriculture through better distribution of its products; to narrow the spread between farm and retail prices; and to help farmers build better markets for their products.

That is why many thousands of farmers all over the country are now coming to our support.

When the case finally came to trial, the anti-trust lawyers put on as their first witness a potato expert of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

This expert, who was the anti-trust lawyers' own witness, testified that contrary to the anti-trust lawyers' "allegations," the defendants made every effort to help the Department of Agriculture in its efforts to aid the potato farmer in better marketing of his products and in getting a better price for his products.

When the anti-trust lawyers had put in their evidence and argued their case, Federal Judge C. C. Wyche directed the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty."

Judge Wyche said to the anti-trust lawyers:

"I have studied this case from the very outset. In my opinion there is no testimony produced from which it can reasonably be inferred that the defendants entered into a combination to depress or lower the price of potatoes."

"I might say that I never tried a case in my life where a greater effort, more work, more investigation had been done, combing almost with a fine-tooth comb to gather evidence, as was done in this case."

"But, as was said a long time ago, you can't make brick without straw, and you can't make a case without facts."

So, here was a case in which the anti-trust lawyers made seriously damaging charges against A&P in which the Judge decided that there were no facts to support those charges.

That is why we say the anti-trust lawyers can be wrong and have been wrong.

That is why we say that they are wrong again, just as they were wrong in the Washington bread case and the North Carolina potato case.

We are going to show the American people that the suit to destroy A&P is really a suit against efficiency and against real competition.

The real question involved in this suit is whether businessmen are going to be encouraged to do a better and more efficient job; or whether we are going to let the anti-trust lawyers in Washington blow the whistle on anybody who gets big by giving the people more for their money.

No one can make us believe that it is a crime to try to sell the best quality food at the lowest possible price.

"All loyal Americans honor our flag, but it is equally important that we do more than this," Mr. Koepke said. "Exercising one's privilege and duty of voting should be the primary concern of every American, and more especially, that of every Odd Fellow and Rebekah."

Another idea expressed by Grand Master Koepke was that of family life. "With our modern busy lives, and the many innovations that have

HALF-CENTURY HIGHLIGHTS

MOST SENSATIONAL KILLING of the early 20th Century was the shooting in 1906 of famous, wealthy architect Stanford White by Harry K. Thaw, millionaire playboy in the roof theater atop old Madison Square Garden, which White had designed. Thaw was enraged by the attentions of White to his beautiful showgirl wife, Evelyn Nesbit Thaw. Encountering his rival at the Garden, Thaw shot him dead. His defense—novel at the time—was insanity. The case was a world sensation. Foreign newspapers sent correspondents to cover the trials. The first jury disagreed, but in 1908 Thaw was declared not guilty by reason of insanity. He spent the next 20 years in and out of insane asylums. He's pictured dining in style in his cell during one of his trials.

Supreme Court Rules In Favor Of Couple In Greenfield Case

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18 — (AP) — The Illinois Supreme Court today reversed the conviction of a Seventh Day Adventist couple who taught their eight year old daughter at home and refused to send her to the Greenfield grade school.

Setting aside a Greene county circuit court decision, the high court said the parents provided the child with instruction "equal or superior to that obtainable in the public schools."

The parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Levisen were convicted in the lower court of violating the state law requiring compulsory school attendance of able-bodied children. Last June they moved from Greenfield to a farm near Leasburg, Mo.

One of their church's religious principles is that parents should be the teachers of their children. The Levisens contended the state law is invalid.

In its opinion, the Supreme Court said the law "is made for the parent who fails or refuses to properly educate his child," and is aimed at seeing that all children are educated "not that they shall be educated in any particular manner or place."

Justice Jesse L. Simpson of Edwardsville issued a dissenting opinion in which he said that some parents may construe the majority ruling as a "license to keep their children at home instead of sending them to school."

The tribunal said its opinion does not imply that parents may, under pretext of instruction by a private tutor or by themselves, evade their responsibility to educate their children.

"Those who prefer this method as a substitute for attendance at the public school have the burden of showing that they have in good faith provided an adequate course of instruction in the prescribed branches of learning," the court said.

"It becomes unnecessary to consider the further contention that the statute violates the constitutional right of parents to direct the education of their child," the opinion added.

Seger And Chapman Must Die March 17 For Holdup Slaying

Springfield, Ill., Jan. 18 — (AP) — The Illinois Supreme Court today upheld the convictions of four persons condemned to death for murder in two separate cases.

In one case, the tribunal turned down the appeal of two youths sentenced to die for murdering a Jerseyville insurance man in a $10 highway robbery. The youths are Carson Seger, 19, of Alton, and Curtis Chapman, 18, of White Hall.

In the second case, the Court upheld the convictions of Alphonso Najera, 27, and Fred Varela, 26, for the April, 1948 slaying of a Chicago taxicab driver.

The Supreme Court set March 17 as the execution date for all four defendants.

"Brutal Crime" Says Court
"The records of this court disclose few if any more brutal murders than the murder admittedly perpetrated by Chapman and Seger, the tribunal said.

The youths pleaded guilty in Greene county circuit court to murdering Howard Heiminger, 32, father of three children. His bullet pierced body was found in a roadside ditch last April between Jerseyville and Carrollton.

Police said the youths shot Heiminger five times and robbed him of $10 after he had given them a ride in his car.

Chapman and Seger contended their sentences resulted from "passion and prejudice" but the supreme court said:

"The record is barren of any evidence tending to show that passion or prejudice, however engendered, played any part in the trial judge's determination of the sentence."

"All proceedings were conducted in a fair and impartial manner," Najera and Varela received the death sentence in Cook county criminal court for the brutal shooting of Albert Brody, 30, a cab driver.

The supreme court rejected their arguments that their confession came after they were beaten and abused by police. The two defendants also claimed they were detained without counsel for 22 days and kept in shackles for a 40 to 50 hour period.

"We do not find that the defendants did not receive the fair and impartial treatment to which they were entitled," the court's opinion said.

The court noted that police officers denied the use of force in obtaining the confession, which was admitted in evidence by the trial court.

SOCIAL SECURITY AND YOU

Q. My brother died last September. He was never married and had no insurance. I have been told that his social security money would pay for his funeral and I would like to know how to go about having this done.

A. There is no provision in the Social Security Act by which funeral expenses can be paid. Under the circumstances you have given, a lump-sum death payment may be made on your brother's account to the person who has paid the funeral expenses. However, the funeral expenses must first be paid before a claim for the lump-sum payment can be considered.

Q. My father is receiving a railroad retirement annuity and since he first started drawing it he has worked enough under social security to be eligible for a social security benefit also. Can he receive both types of payment?

A. Your father's eligibility to a railroad retirement annuity would in no way affect his eligibility to a social security benefit. If he has been employed enough to qualify for a social security benefit, he should apply for and receive it. Information as to the effect of social security benefits on his railroad annuity should be secured from the Railroad Retirement Board.

Q. I have been receiving my social security benefit regularly ever since I retired two years ago. My daughter is a partner in a restaurant and I am wondering if I could work for her and still receive my benefit?

A. The Social Security Act excepts from employment services rendered by a parent in the employ of a son or daughter; however, since your employment would not be solely in the employ of your daughter, your work would be covered by the law. Your benefit would not be payable for any month in which you would earn wages of more than $14.99 in such employment.

NOTE: A representative from the Springfield Social Security Office is in Jacksonville every Thursday morning from 10 to 12. He is located at the Employment Office on East Morgan street.

WEAK TONE IN ALL CHICAGO GRAINS

Chicago, Jan. 18.—(P)—Selling of corn by an export house upset that cereal and caused a weak tone everywhere in grains today.

Some traders felt the selling may have been tied in with reports of a new export policy by the Commodity Credit Corporation. That government agency was said to be offering some of its stocks of corn and oats to exporters at approximately market prices.

The selling movement carried corn down around 2 cents and oats around a cent. Prices dipped under the low of last Friday, when the market sold off in sympathy with a break in stocks. September and December corn, and December oats, touched new seasonal lows.

Wheat also gave up ground, although the new crop months showed resistance. The bread cereal was helped by hedge lifting against sales of 1,020,000 bushels of hard winter wheat to Holland.

Receipts were: Wheat 2 cars, corn 84, oats 27, rye none, barley 21, soybean 6.

Wheat closed 1-11 lower. March $2.14, corn was 11 to 3 cents lower. March $1.26, oats were 1-11 lower. March 71, rye was 11-21 lower. May 31.38-4, soybeans were 1-21 lower. March $2.30-2.30, and lard was unchanged to 3 cents a hundred pounds lower. January $10.52.

New York Stock Market

New York, Jan. 18.—(P)—Sustained demand for steel shares today kept the stock market on the higher side. Gains throughout were modest fractions to around a point, and there were a handful of leaders on the losing side by about the same margin.

Activity was limited with trading shares for the entire day.

Strength in steel and small grains among coal carrying railroads persisted despite the threat of a severe coal shortage because of strikes.

Motors slipped after showing early gains. Rails jiggled into a mixed pattern.

Corporate bonds moved narrowly.

Quincy Bus Drivers Reject 5c Offer In 2-Month Strike

Quincy, Ill., Jan. 18 — (P)—Thirty-five AFL bus company employees today rejected a flat five-cent wage boost offer as they strike against the Quincy city lines went into its second month.

The five cents an hour hike, retroactive to April 1, 1949, was proposed by the company yesterday in the Chicago office of federal mediator James J. Spillane.

Carson Lawrence, president of the Quincy local of the Amalgamated Street, Electric Railway and Motor Coach Employees union, said the rejection vote was 25 to 7.

"The company is paying its drivers $35 to $40 a week," Lawrence said. "We have every reason to believe that, in the future, the company will be able to pay its men more money."

The union had asked a 25 cent hourly wage increase for drivers to boost their pay rate to $1.25, and a 35-cent hike for mechanics which would have established an hourly rate of $1.43.

A company official said that if its offer had been accepted, the strikers would have received an average of $107.85 apiece in retroactive pay increase.

Pittsfield Bumps Rout; Carthage Wins March Of Dimes Tiffs

Pittsfield's mighty scoring machine moved to a 56-34 victory over the Rout Rockets in the second game of a March of Dimes benefit double-header at the Illinois School for the Deaf gymnasium Wednesday night.

A smooth-working bunch of Carthage high school youngsters dropped Benld 57-47 in a well-played open-

A sparse crowd of approximately 350 fans attended the tilts.

Rout, missing badly from the free throw line and from the field, was able to give the highly-regarded Saukese a contest for only one quarter. After that the ultimate outcome was clear to the partisan Jacksonville crowd.

A diversified attack led to the Pittsfield win. Ten players shared in the scoring for Coach Glen Smith. Four of them had eight or more points.

Richard Zimmermann was the big gun for the visiting club. He totaled 13 points on four field goals and five free throws. In addition, he was a thorn in Rout's side under the bankboards.

However, it was Predmore, a short-er forward, who started off in a fashion which led fans to believe that he would carry off top honors.

The speedy forward dropped in four buckets in the first quarter to get the Pike county crew off on the right foot. He fouled out early in the second period and therefore surrendered the point-getting prize to Zimmermann.

For Rout, it was reliable Paul Saner who led the parade. He bucketed eight points and was given a good share of the credit for holding Zimmermann to the comparatively low figure.

The game was marked by considerable fouling. Three Rout players were waved out of the tilt. Predmore was the only Pittsfield cager to go. The opener proved to be the real crowd pleaser. With both teams employing a pressing defense and a fast break to a considerable extent, the action was fast and furious and fans saw some of the best basketball displayed on the westend boards this season.

The northern aggregation, although overworked with underclassmen, showed a well-coordinated attack, with superb passing and excellent shooting. Benld, one of the better clubs in the area, and located directly south of Springfield, stayed within striking distance through the first half, but was unable to retain the stride in the final two chapters.

Tarter, Benld forward, took scoring honors for the combat with 19 West with 14, Scott with 13 and Belry with 12 topped the winners.

Snead Wins Los Angeles Open Over Hogan In Play-Off

Los Angeles, Jan. 18 — (P)— Ben Hogan's gallant come back to golf cracked slowly to a walk and then was stopped cold by Sam Snead today.

The two titans of golf met in a de-layed, dramatic 18-hole play-off medal match, and the issue was soon evident.

Snead, matchless today, sank the Hogan dreams of victory in his initial return to the golfing was by a convincing four stroke margin.

The long slamming one from West Virginia carded a 36-36-72 and Hogan a 38-38-76. Snead was one over par and Hogan five over.

Those were the cold scores posted in the low hanging fog enveloping the play-off scene at the Riviera Country club.

They gave Snead undisputed claim to the crown of the recent $15,000 Los Angeles Open, leading money of $2,600. In cash and the belated finale to a wonderful return to golf for his mighty mite.

Hogan lost, and was, it seemed, never a threat. Snead won, and gave a masterful demonstration under adverse conditions in doing it.

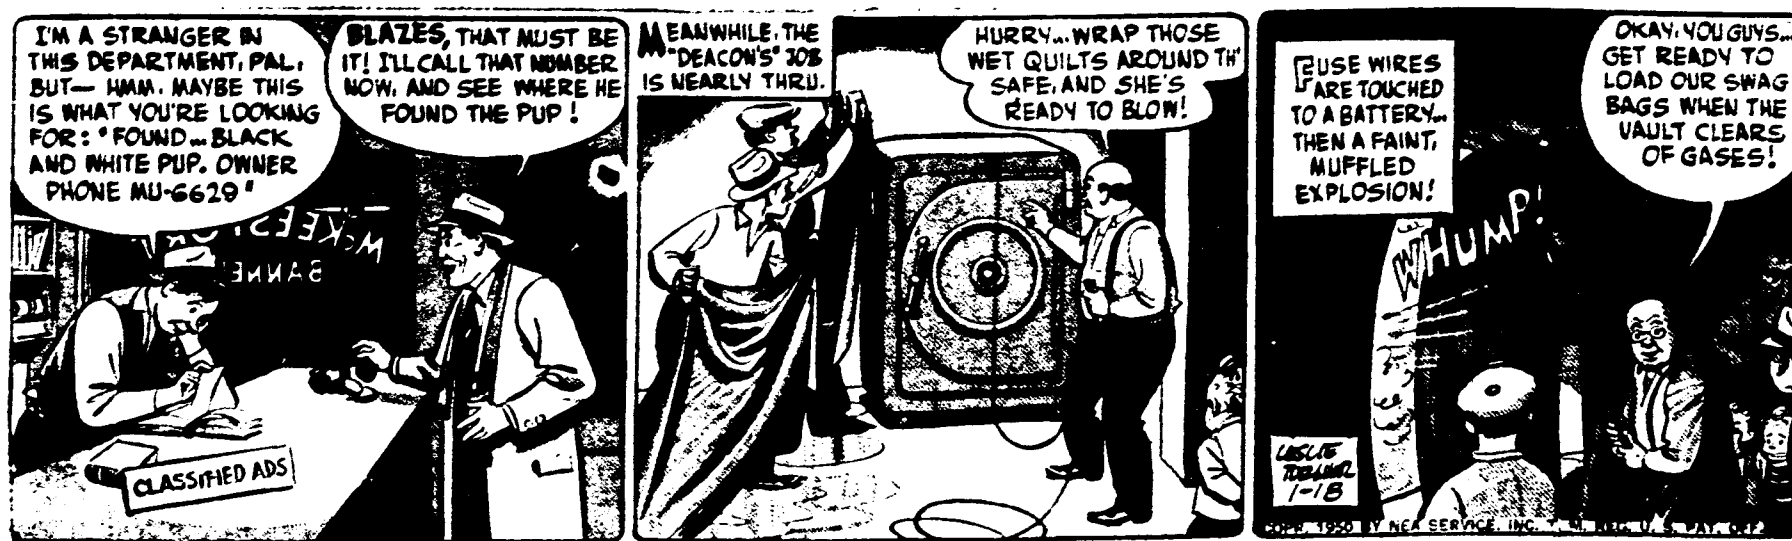

The gallery was never too obviously in favor of little Ben, but they all knew the story of his courageous come-back. Just last February his broken body was lifted from the wreckage of his sedan after his car collided with a bus in west Texas.

For a time Ben had a 50-50 chance of living. His chances of ever playing golf again were

I Love My Doctor?
By Evelyn Barkins

XXXIII
BUT the die was inevitably cast. In a short while, we discovered that we were definitely "expecting" and so took the first step out of the honeymoon stage without the slightest realization of what was taking place.
"How come husbands in the movies never seem to know beforehand?" I asked John as he consulted the calendar. "She faints, or drops a little bootee that she's knitting, and he acts as flabbergasted as if he were never even there!"
John laughed.
Although I joined in his laughter, I still was firm about not revealing the news until after my diploma was secured, and John finally agreed. Despite his personal excitement, however, his professional attitude was as annoyingly consistent as ever. First he decided that he would look after me prenatally, and call in Bob at the end since it was considered unethical for a physician to deliver his own wife. Then, with the practical arrangements thus rapidly completed, he delegated the whole business of having a baby to the unimpressive cubby hole reserved for prosaic, routine cases in medical practice.
"It's a perfectly natural function," he began, like a second-grader reciting the pledge to the flag. "The most important thing to remember is to forget the entire matter." This conclusion was offered like an obstetrician addressing a class for expectant mothers.
Keeping busy was no task for me—at that time, or anytime since. I was soon fully recovered, back in the office, helping John and reaping my full share of engrossment and often laughter. If distraction was all that John prescribed, then his office was the ideal place to get it.
AND "forget it" was exactly what John proceeded to do. When I developed spells of nausea, and complained because I had to sneak out of the lecture hall at school, he merely said with his usual exasperating nonchalance toward non-dangerous uncomfortable symptoms: "Morning sickness is common enough, and of no significance at all. Don't worry."

Besides keeping busy in the office, I found myself flung into the final throes of cramming at school. The effort of covering the whole year's law work in preparation for the concluding examinations, as well as the state bar, was no negligible matter.
"Thank Heaven that's all over!" I told John one day after the last paper had been handed in, and I came home from school for the last time.
"Thank you passed?" asked John, as I fell wearily on the couch.
"I prayed hard enough," I answered confidently, as if prayer could alter the facts of how much more two plus two make, or what Justice Marshall said more than 100 years ago.
"When's graduation?" he asked equally confident.
"Got something for me?" I spoke with renewed interest.
John's face fell 20 points. "Gifts again?" he groaned. "I clean forgot. Don't worry, though, now I'll remember. I tell you though, sweetie," he went on half jokingly, "the Bible says Jacob served seven years for Rachel, but sometimes I think that modern man never finishes serving."
"It wasn't such a horrible job for you when we were engaged, and first married," I answered, trying to joke back, but not succeeding very well. "You used to get me loads of things then."
"That's just it," said John. "A fellow kind of runs out of ideas. Besides, I've got a lot more on my mind now."
"Well, anyway," I said deliberately turning away from this Scylla and Charybdis topic, "you'd better wait and see how I make out."
I made out pretty well, all things considered, and on graduation morning I set out proudly for the commencement exercises with John, my mother and my father, and Lizzie too, as John called our expected.

Journal Courier School Nu Phi Mu Plans Auction, Program Booklets At Meet

The attendance at the Journal Courier Food Pageant Cooking School Wednesday morning reached capacity size in less than 20 minutes after the doors of the Fox-Illinois theatre were opened at 8 o'clock.

Twelve hundred women, many of whom had been waiting for more than an hour, filed into the theatre, rapidly filling all available seating space.

It was again necessary to turn away a large number of women. About 200 were unable to be accommodated because of inadequate space. At the opening session Tuesday, more than 500 women were refused admittance for this reason.

The second of the four-day sessions got under way promptly at 9 o'clock, with Robert A. Fay, national advertising manager for the Journal Courier, which is sponsoring the event in connection with the National Live Stock and Meat Board, acting as master of ceremonies.

Miss Dorothy Holland, who is conducting the school, opened the session with a few remarks pertaining to the National Live Stock and Meat Board, with which both she and her assistant, Miss Nancy Carter, are affiliated.

The instructors elaborated upon the survey work done by the board. She stated that these surveys have shown how food preferences vary in different sections of the country.

A substantial beef-kidney pie was the first item on Wednesday's menu. Miss Holland explained that kidney should always be washed before using, proving an exception to the rule.

The importance of thoroughly creaming lard was stressed by Miss Holland as she mixed the ingredients for a creamy chocolate feather cake.

She said that lard is much better to use for cakes than shortening, as it gives the cake a finer texture and better keeping qualities.

Instead of greasing the cake pan, Miss Holland inserted a piece of waxed paper in the bottom, stating that the side of the pan should always be kept dry in order to permit the cake to rise.

Before placing the mixture in the
